York Evening Post :

Tork Evening Post:
The De Soto, from Havana, reports the clearance and salling of the slavers Ardennes, Alexina, Falmouth and Express.

Herewith you have the report of the capture of the Sunny South;
"Letters from Zausibar, received in Salem, Mass, state that the ship Sunny South, with 846 slaves on board, had been captured by Her British Majesty's steamer Brisk, in the vicinity of Mosambique, and sent to Mauritins."

A 250 tun bark was sold last month, and does not appear in the list of vessets in port in the last lesue of the Shipping List. She was litted out for a slave voyage.

The particulars of the capture of the Bonita are given by the captain of the United States storeship Relief, who brought the crew of the captured vessel to this port and reported himself to the United States Marshal, at New York, on Thursday:

Marshal, at New York, on Thursday:

The San Javanto left Kabenda, where she put in for water on the 6th of October, and on the 10th, at eight A. M., saw a brigantine without colors, beating toward the north. Steam was immediately got up, extra sails put on, and a rigorous chase commenced. The stranger kept on her course, gallantly, with all canvas loose, A gun from the frigate attracted the attention of those on board the Bonita, but was disregarded. A second shot, however, and the increasing speed of the pursuer induced the brig to heave to. Lieutenant Foster, United States Navy, and Lieutenant Broome, of the Marines, then put out for the brig and boarded her. Considerable evasion was used to shift ber. Considerable evasion was used to shift the responsibility of command, but that the game was up became evident in a moment, the crew of the slaver crying out faintly to-ward the hatch: "You've got 'em; they're down there."

As fine a cargo of darkies as the most ambitious trader could desire was then introduced to the new-comers. Males and females were all perfectly naked, but in good health and clean. They had only been out about twenty-four hours, and were fresh from Punta de Lenha, the chief slave depot on the station, where, it is said, there are no less than seventeen "factories," or exchanges, in which the negroes for sale are concentrated, The captors of the prize were not a little astonished to find on board some of the crew of the ship Cora, who were put ashore at an

The San Jacinto kept alongside the Bonita, towing her all night; had the slave galleys set up, and next morning sent her to Monrovia to land the 713 slaves, who are to be taken charge of by the United States Government Agent. The slaves, notwithstanding their numbers, were put on board the Bonita in the space of fifteen minutes. Having disposed of the prize, the San Jacinto stood to the south, and met the Constellation, the officers of each ship conveying to one another the latelligence that a 'haul had been made.'

The parties on board the slaver made desperate attempt to break the San Jacinto's propeller by throwing overboard furniture and other materials likely to impede progress; the cabin had been made destitute of "fitting" to accomplish this treacherous design. Plenty of rice and all sorts of provisions were on board. The Bouta is a splendid brigantine of about 212 tuns burden. did origantine or about 1/2 tuns burden.
Her ownership has not transpired. She cleared from New York on the 16th of July, with papers for St. Thomas and a market, and took forty-seven days to go out to the coast; and steering direct from the last-named port to Punta de Lenha, where she got the blacks.

SINGULAR KIDNAPPING IN MAINE-A Mai Carries off his own Wife .- The Portland Advertiser gives the following case of kidapping in that city:

Mrs. Curtis, formerly of Bath, Me., who has separated from her husband, was kidnapped on Tuesday in our city, under the following circumstances: Since her separa-tion from her husband, with whom she has made two efforts to live, she has been living here, at the house of Mr. Wallace Graves, on here, at the house of Mr. Wallace Graves, on Congress-street, with whom she lived before her marriage to Curtis. Her husband permitted her at first to keep her two children, but subsequently took them from her. He then returned them to her, and she boarded them out. On Tuesday evening Mr. Curtis's mother called on Mrs. Gurney, in Brattle-street, and wished to take away the child there; but Mrs. Gurney declined to deliver the child up until she could hear from its the child up until she could hear from its mother. She sent a lad at once to the mother, but Mrs. Curtis followed the boy and re-

She immediately ran, and he followed, when, as she approached Mrs. Gurney's house, her husband seized her and thrust her by force into a sleigh, in which was his father, and holding a handkerchief over her mouth to prevent her screams being heard the two. Turker's heard, the two men drove off over Tukey's bridge with Mrs. Curtis. The police of Bath have been informed of the transaction, and we hope all the parties will be arrested and we nope at the parties with so arrested and brought to justice for the high-handed out-rage. Mr. Graves's family speak very highly of the younger Mrs. Curtis, who is about twenty-two years of age, and an orphan.

The parents were often recommended to have him removed to an asylum, but they would not consent. Recently they died, and the man's sister has since continued to keep him in captivity.

Dawning Francom or Jews in Swiden.— Up to the present time, no Jewskas been or any profession in Sweden without a special license from the government; which could only be obtained after much dalay and expense. But the King, in accordance with the Legislative Chambers, has just decreed that every Jew, who has not been condemned or any eriminal action, has permission to tor any criminal action, has permission to establish himself in Sweden without re-striction, and to follow any calling or acquire property under the same circumstances as the Christians in that country. The Last Excitement in Mississippi-Gin-Houses Burned-Free-State Men Hanged and Branded. The telegraph has already mentioned an excitement at Friar's Point, Miss., caused by the burning of gin-houses there, the exacution of three Free-State mechanics, and other outrages. The Memphis papers have these particulars in a letter from Friar's

Point, dated the 11th inst: Point, dated the 11th inst:

There is great excitement in this community. The people are in arms against the Northern men who have been in the country but a few months. Yesterday evening two gins and a negro quarter were fired simultaneously, doubtless by the procurement of these wretches. The night was lit up for miles around. The Vigilanco Committee were soon under arms, and proceeded to the room of three carpenters, one by the name of Hamlin, the others unknown, and took them and hung them to the first tree, and afterward cut them down and burned them. The town is now under arms, the military The town is now under arms, the military are parading the streets, and all is excite-ment and alarm.

This morning the remainder of the Northern men were sent up the river on the steamer Peytona, some of them were branded with the letters "G. B." (gin burners), before shipped. Fourteen gins have been burned in this county during the last six weeks, and the people have determined to ston it.

atop it.

An Abolitionist was hanged, barreled up and rolled into the river, at this point, last week, and it was probably to avenge his death that the last gins were fired. A negro implicated the men who were hung. He said that they had told him all the negroes were to be free next March, when Lincoln becomes President, and that there will be a general rising of the negrous then.

The vigilance committee have sworn to hang every Northern man who comes here from this time until the 4th of March, and all such had better be in h—ll than Friars Point.

No Secression .- The New York Evening Post in an able article on the consequences of secession, speaks encouragingly, as follows: Let no man fear the breaking up of our Union whatever the South may do. The United States will remain, the slars and stripes will float over the towers and fortresses through 60° of longitude and at the mastheads of navies and merchantmen in every port of the world. What will be their power? With a population of 20,000,000 of freemen, possessing the best portions of the Mississippi Valley and of the Atlantic and Pacific slopes, patient and active, accustomed to hardship and of the Atlantic and Pacific slopes, patient and active, accustomed to hardship and self-support, with an enterprise that never flags and a spirit never subducd, a climate and soil to stimulate and reward them, and every facility in streams, lakes and harbors for manufactures and traffic, attracting emigrants from the Old World by the freedom and richness of the New; is there any future of presentity and clove that is any future of prosperity and glory that is not within their reach?

EXTENT OF THE PHILADELPHIA OYSTHA-TRADE.—The capital invested in the cyster-trade in Philadelphia amounts to $500,000, yielding returns of about a million and a half of dollars annually. Over 1,200 vessels are engaged in the trade, each making about two trips a month to Maurice River Cove and back. Owing to disputes with Mary-land, however, some of the boats never re-turn, and the captain and crew are lucky if they escape imprisonment; both the Maryturn, and the captain and crew are incey if they escape imprisonment; both the Mary-landers and Virginians claiming a monopoly of the business along their own shores. In Baltimore, the annual returns are estimated at $4,000,000. The trade in these two cities is principally to the West, to which the in-troduction of the canning system has given new impetus; experience having proved that the bivalves are test when put up in cans for shipment. Though American oys-ters are not equal in size to those found in the Indian Ocean, yet they are believed to surpass them in nutritiousness and delicacy, and are far superior to any found on the Europeau coasts. SINGULAR FACT IN CONNECTION WITH THE DEATH OF BRITISH PERS.—It is remarkable that the twenty-four English Peers, who have died since the year commenced, have exactly completed, en the average, the full measure of "three-score years and ten." They are as follows: Viscount Arbuthnot, 82. Lord Londschorough, 54: Viscount They are as follows: Viscount Arbuthnot, 82; Lord Londesborough, 54; Viscount Southwell, 83; Viscount Gormanston, 84; Lord Oranmore, 72; Bishep of Rochester, 84; Earl of Longford, 42; Baroness Stratbeden, 63; Lord Fitzgerald, 69; Viscount Guillamore, 27; Baroness Wentworth, 67; Earl of Strafford, 82; Lord Hoytesbury, 80; Archishop of York, 71; Lord Saudys, 68; Lord Elphinstone, 53; Bishop of Worcester, 77; Earl of Lauderdale, 76; Earl of Cawdor, 70; Lord French, 74; Earl of Leven and Melville, 75; Duke of Richmond, 69; Earl of Manvers, 82; Earl of Dundonald, 85. Horrible Trackey in Tracks—One Man Butchered and Four Others Hanges.—There were two families—Mooney and Wilborn—residing, some time ago, in Nacogdoches existed. Not long since, the Mooneys moved to Concord, Hardin County, and had been but County, Texas, between whom a bitter feud a few days in their new location, when Wilborn and his three sons, heavily armed, made their appearance, and finding Mooney in a store, they shot him, wounding him badly. They then followed him to his residence, and finished him with their guns and knives, and also, shamefully abused his wite. Meanwhile, the neighbors gathered around and arrested the murderers, who were put under a strong guard for the night. The next morning the father and the three sons were found just outside the town, hanging to sepfound just outside the town, hanging to sep arate trees, and dead.

COTTON CULTURE IN PRANCE AND ALGERIA The Paris Moniteur publishes a report to the Emperor by M. Guerin-Menoville, on the re-sult of the works undertaken by the Emperor's orders for introducing into France and Algeria the breeding of a silkworm, pro-cured from China, producing a very strong silky matter, which for ages past has been used to make a material for the clothing of the poorer classes in that country. The ex-periment has been exceedingly successful, and the reporter is sanguine of the new silk-worm producing, in the course of a few years, sufficient silk to furnish the clothing of the working classes of France, to the ex-clusion of cotton, which now forms the staple of the apparel of the working population.

A BEAUTIFUL CHANDILIES.—A beautiful twelve-light chandelier has just been completed in Philadelphia for the Vice-President's room in the capital. It is mussive, made of fine gilt throughout, and bears three medallion heads of Washington, above which are figures emblematic of youth and vigor, supporting a column, on which rests an eagle with the American shield. In the center of the whole is a statuette of an Indian warrior, the canopy being adorned with the coat-of-arms of the original thirteen States.

A Woman's Life Sayed at a Fire by a Pugilist.—At the fire in Hudson-street, New York, on Thursday morning, Michael Norton, the pugilist, dashed into a room on fire, took out a female in his arms, and, after several unsuccessful attempts, carried her to the roof, from which he descended with her to a lower roof, and finally delivered her into the hands of her friends, who witnessed his movements from below.
